

Self-Advocates Lead the Charge

People On the Go Maryland is a partner of the Maryland Center for Developmental Disabilities at Kennedy Krieger Institute and the Maryland Developmental Disabilities Council.

Who We Are

People On the Go Maryland is a self-advocacy group of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities who use their voices to be heard and recognized. People On the Go believes all people should be active participants in their communities and strives to eliminate discrimination.

What We Do

- Promote inclusion and self-advocacy
- Meet regularly with other advocates and self-advocates to discuss issues that affect our lives
- Educate all people about disability and train others how to speak up
- Promote disability interests in state and federal law through legislative and policy leadership
