Date: Thursday, June 20, 2024

Time: 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. EST

Where: Live Interactive Webinar

Registered participants will receive an e-mail with instructions on how to join the session.

Objectives: Participants will be able to:

1. Discuss how trauma affects a child's cognitive and academic development.
2. Identify how trauma fits into IEP eligibility categories.
3. Describe how trauma manifests on school-based assessments.
4. Select the types of supports and services a child can get to address the effects of trauma.
5. Discuss how to coordinate with out-of-school health care and mental health providers.

Traumatic experiences can impact a child's cognitive, social-emotional, and academic development. This session will include a discussion on how to address the effects of traumatic experiences on a child through an individualized education program (IEP), identify federal eligibility categories children who have experienced trauma may be eligible under, and outline supports and services that help a child access their education. Finally, best practices for collaborating with a child's out-of-school healthcare professionals to better meet their educational needs will be discussed.

Instructional Level: Intermediate

Who Should Attend? Psychologists, Social workers, Counselors, Educators, Parents and caregivers, Nurses, Clinical and medical staff, Direct support professionals and other community service providers, Speech-language pathologists, Physical and occupational therapists, Community members, Students/trainees.
