Accessible and Affordable Transportation for People with Disabilities: Opportunities for Engagement

Date: Wednesday, July 13, 2022

Time: 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

Where: Live Interactive Webinar

Registered participants will receive an e-mail with instructions on how to join the session.

Gabriel H. Rubinstein, Esq., is a staff attorney who practices in the Developmental Disabilities/Health Care Access Unit at Disability Rights Maryland, and focuses on assistive technology and transportation.

Audrey Sellers, BA, is an advocate with Disability Rights Maryland, drawing upon her life experience as a person with a developmental disability in her work on assistive technology and transportation.

Objectives: Participants will be able to:

1. Summarize the protections in place for individuals with disabilities in regard to transportation, and how to obtain transportation services and other resources.
2. Discuss information and assistance to resolve gaps in individual transportation needs.
3. Analyze current issues in transportation access for Marylanders with disabilities and opportunities for engagement.

*Accessible and affordable transportation is critical for people with disabilities to ensure access to health care, jobs and other meaningful community participation. In the U.S., over 25 percent of adults with disabilities do not have their own vehicle, and adults with disabilities are twice as likely as those without disabilities to have inadequate transportation. This workshop will discuss the importance of accessible and affordable transportation in Maryland for people with disabilities, a brief history of public transportation relating to people with disabilities, and how to access Maryland's accessible transportation. Instructional Level: Intermediate

Who Should Attend? Psychologists, Social workers, Counselors, Educators, Parents and Caregivers, Nurses, Clinical and Medical Staff, Direct Support Professionals and other Community Service Providers, Speech/Physical/Occupational therapists, Students/Trainees
